

Quote of the Week

By Editor Test Tue, Oct 30, 2012

*"Economic management, especially in the United States, would be greatly facilitated if resort could occasionally be had to witchcraft. Monetary policy, by far the most promising possibility, involves none. This every good citizen must regret"--John Kenneth Galbraith, The Affluent Society (Houghton-Mifflin, 1958), p. 199.*
