
Quote of the Week

By Kerry Pechter Thu, Nov 21, 2013

"The most common qualification of the economic forecaster is not in knowing, but in not knowing that he does not know. His greatest advantage is that all predictions, right or wrong, are soon forgotten"--John Kenneth Galbraith, Economics in Perspective.
