Biden DOL gives green light to green funds in retirement plans

The Trump administration's Labor Department leaned against the inclusion of Environment, Social and Governance (ESG) investments in qualified plans. President Biden's DOL is leaning even harder the other way.

The move reflects the Biden administration's desire to stem the progress of global warming. ESG funds often include shares of companies specializing in "green" technologies, or funds that exclude shares of companies whose products or processes contribute to climate change.

If the proposed rule becomes part of DOL regulations, retirement plan advisers and managers of ESG mutual funds will be able to work with each other to satisfy the evident demand for the funds among participants without fear of crossing the DOL.

According to a DOL release (and a document published in the Federal Register) this week:

The US Department of Labor announced a proposed rule that would remove barriers to plan fiduciaries' ability to consider climate change and other environmental, social and governance factors when they select investments and exercise shareholder rights.

The proposed rule, "Prudence and Loyalty in Selecting Plan Investments and Exercising Shareholder Rights," follows Executive Order 14030, signed by President Biden on May 20, 2021. The order directs the federal government to implement policies to help safeguard the financial security of America's families, businesses and workers from climate-related financial risk that may threaten the life savings and pensions of US workers and families.

"The proposed rule announced today will bolster the resilience of workers' retirement savings and pensions by removing the artificial impediments—and chilling effect on environmental, social and governance investments—caused by the prior administration's rules," said Acting Assistant Secretary for the Employee Benefits Security Administration Ali Khawar.

“A principal idea underlying the proposal is that climate change and other ESG factors can be financially material and when they are, considering them will inevitably lead to better long-term risk-adjusted returns, protecting the retirement savings of America’s workers.”

The NPRM’s comment period will run for 60 days after publication in the Federal Register and will include instructions on submitting comments through www.regulations.gov. Commenters are free to express views not only on the provisions of the proposal but also on any issues germane to the subject matter of the proposal.

Morningstar announces a ESG Pooled Employer Plan

Morningstar Investment Management LLC, a subsidiary of Morningstar, Inc. (Nasdaq: MORN), and Plan Administrators, Inc. (PAi), a retirement plan administrator and recordkeeper, today announced plans to offer the industry’s first Pooled Employer Plan (PEP) intentionally designed to limit exposure to material environmental, social, and governance (ESG) risks. The Morningstar ESG Pooled Employer Plan is expected to launch in early 2022, pending final guidance from the U.S. Department of Labor on the use of ESG factors to select investments for retirement plans.

PEPs allow employers of any size or industry to band together to participate in a single retirement plan. This helps relieve administrative and compliance burdens and potentially reduces fees, making it easier for small- to mid-sized companies to offer a 401(k) plan so their employees can save for retirement. The PEP from Morningstar Investment Management and PAi will feature funds that meet Morningstar Investment Management’s rigorous investment selection criteria and pursue investment strategies designed to limit ESG risk.

Morningstar Investment Management’s investment team uses both the Morningstar Sustainability Rating™ and interviews with fund managers to ascertain the ESG risk of investments under consideration. The objective of the Morningstar ESG PEP will be to create as close to a complete ESG lineup as possible, though certain asset classes (such as TIPs or money market funds) where no ESG investment option exists in the market may be represented to help participants diversify their portfolios.

PAi Trust Co. will oversee the plan as the pooled plan provider, and the PEP will be offered on PAi’s CoPilot recordkeeping platform that focuses on outcomes by engaging participants using event-based alert messages. In addition to those timely alerts and nudges, CoPilot provides a Years of Retirement tool that shows participants how many years their savings will last, not just how many dollars they've saved.

Morningstar Investment Management will select and manage the investment lineup for the Morningstar ESG PEP, using its expertise from building and overseeing 20,415[1] lineups for its fiduciary services program and drawing from Morningstar's independent research and ratings. Morningstar Investment Management will also create a custom ESG target-date portfolio for the PEP, designed as an option for the Qualified Default Investment Alternative.
