

Towers Watson CEO extols 'bridge' strategy

By Editorial Staff Thu, Apr 9, 2015

People who retire at age 62 should spend personal savings for eight years and claim Social Security at age 70, rather than claim SS at age 62. So says John Haley, CEO of Towers Watson, in this lively video taped at the Bipartisan Policy Center recently.
